2.6 Risk Disclosure

Investors are advised that all investments in mutual funds and securities are subject to market risks. Our target return/ dividend range cannot be guaranteed. It should be clearly understood that the portfolio of First Habib Income Fund is subject to market fluctuations and risk inherent in all such investments. The risk emanates from various factors that include, but are not limited to:

- a) Credit Risk: Comprises of default risk, credit spread risk and downgrade risk. Each can have negative impact on the value of fixed-income securities including money market instruments.
- b) Default Risk: The risk that the issuer will not be able to pay the obligation, either on time or at all.
- c) Credit Spread Risk: The risk that there will be an increase in the difference between the return/ mark up rate of an issuer's bond and the return/ mark up rate of a bond that is considered to have little associated risk (such as a government guaranteed bond or treasury bill). The difference between this return/ mark up rates is called a credit spread. Credit spreads are based on macroeconomic events in the domestic or global financial markets. An increase in credit spread will decrease the value of fixed income securities including money market instruments.
- d) Downgrade Risk: The risk that a credit rating agency, such as PACRA or JCRVIS or any other reputed credit rating agency, will reduce the credit rating of an issuer's securities. Downgrades in credit rating will decrease the value of those fixed income securities including money market instruments.
- e) Derivative Risk: Derivatives may be used to limit or hedge potential losses associated with stock markets and return/mark up rates. This process is called hedging. Derivatives may also be used for non-hedging purposes to reduce transaction costs, achieve greater liquidity, and create effective exposure to financial markets or increase speed and flexibility in making portfolio changes. Any use of derivatives has risks, including:
 - i) The hedging strategy may not be effective. There is no guarantee that a market will exist when a Fund wants to buy or sell the derivative contract. A large percentage of the assets of a Fund may be placed on deposit with one or more counter parties, which exposes the Fund to the credit risk of those counter-parties. There is no guarantee that an acceptable counterpart will be willing to enter into the derivative contract.
 - ii) The counter-party to the derivative contract may not be able to meet its obligations. The Exchanges on which the derivative contracts are traded may set daily trading limits, to close out its position in that contract. If an Exchange halts trading in any particular derivative contract, a Fund may not be able to close out its position in that contract. The price of a derivative may not accurately reflect the value of the underlying security or index.

f) Return/ Mark-up Rate Risk: Fixed income securities including money market instruments, which include treasury bills and commercial paper, pay fixed rate of return/ mark-up. The value of the fund, due to its holdings in fixed income securities including money market instruments, will rise and fall as return/ mark-up rate change. For example, when return/ mark-up rates fall, the value of an existing bond will rise because the coupon rate on that bond is greater than prevailing return/ mark-up rates.

g) Government Regulation Risk: Government policies or regulations are more prevalent in some sectors than in others. Funds that invest in these sectors may be affected due to change in these regulation or policies, which directly or indirectly affect the earnings and/ or the cash flows and/ or any governmental or court orders restraining payment of capital, principal or income.

h) Voluminous Issue/ Redemption Risk: Any significant transaction made by such an investor could significantly impact Fund's cash flow. If the third party buys large number of Units of Fund, the Fund could temporarily have a high cash balance. Conversely, if the third party redeems large number of Units of Fund, the Fund may be required to fund the redemption by selling securities at an inopportune time. This unexpected sale may have a negative impact on the performance of your investment.

i) Repurchase, Reverse Repurchase Transactions and Securities Lending Risk: The risks with these types of transactions are that the other party may default under the agreement or go bankrupt. In a reverse repurchase transaction, the Fund may be left holding the security and may not be able to sell it at the same price it paid for it, plus return/ mark-up, if the market value of the security has dropped. In the case of a repurchase or a securities lending transaction, the Fund could incur a loss if the value of the security sold or loaned has increased more than the value of cash or collateral held.

j) Other Risks: Other risks involve mismanagement of the investee company, third party liability whether through class action or otherwise or occurrence of other events such as strikes, fraud etc., in the company in which the investment is made. Break down of law and order, war, natural disasters etc.

6 [There may be times when a portion of the investment portfolio of the Scheme is not compliant either with the investment policy or the minimum investment criteria of the assigned ' Category' This non-compliance may be due to various reasons including, adverse market conditions, liquidity constraints or investment specific issues.
